L. ROSE, H. P.

JAMES H. SALLER, Secretary.

Do You Know a Man whose wife is troubled with debility, nervousness, liver complaint or rheumatism? Just tell him it is a pity to let the lady suffer that way, when Brown's Iron Bitten will relieve her. Mrs. L. B. Edgerly, Dexter, Me., says, "Brown's Iron Bitten cured me of debility and palpitation of the heart." Mrs. H. S. McLaughlin, of Scarborough, Me., says the bitters cured her of debility. Mrs. Harding, of Windham Centre, in the same state, says it cured her of dizziness in the head. So it has cured thousands of other ladies.

Mr. C. A. Reinaking, agent of the New York Life Insurance Company, is in the city. He can be found at Dr. Shackleford's office.

Dr. R. H. Pepper left for the South today, seeking a place to practice his profession. He is a graduate of the Cleveland, (O.) Homeopathic Medical College, and a gentleman who will be a good citizen of any community where he may live. His Maysville friends wish him success.

Tue Louisville Evening Times, of April 29th, says:

Some time ago the fact was made public that a fortune of $50,000,000 is in the Bank of America. The fact was known to certain known fact, it was believed that the heirs to whom this magnificent legacy proportionately large sum of money. Investigation was at once set foot looking to the proof of this theory. After much investigation, it was found that the descendants of the Levi family of this city are the ones who have been the beneficiaries. Two weeks ago Captain B. C. Levi, the veteran steamboatman, received his original papers, and he has been in touch with the agents of the family ever since. He has now called a meeting of the heirs to appoint an agent to visit England to ascertain the facts. The following named heirs met at Captain Levi's office this morning: B. C. Levi and his son, E. L. Levi, of this city; Thomas E. Levi and C. L. Levi, of this city; Thomas E. Levi, of Jefferson County; James Levi, of Louisville; and his son, W. H. Levi, of Maysville; and Mock Levi, Mr. Levi's Secretary. On account of the absence of two or three heirs the meeting adjourned to meet again at Captain Levi's office this afternoon.

Mr. Levi says there is no question as to their right to the fortune, and that they merely have to go through the formality of being recognized by the proper authorities in England.

HON. E. P. KENDRICK, father-in-law of Major J. D. Morley, of this city, died at his home in Chillicothe, Ohio, on the 20th instant. He was ninety-five years of age, a leading Democrat during his life and filled a prominent office under Jackson's administration, also succeeded to the charge of the Virginia military land office at the death of Colonel Anderson, of Kentucky, and was the oldest active Mason in the United States.

Wants to Know.

Editor's Bulletin.—Will you kindly inform a reader, through the columns of your paper, by what right the prisoners, confined by day in the old jail yard (now used as a station house) are allowed to roost in the trees and get a good night's sleep?

Source of continual annoyance to the residents of this city? We would also respectfully suggest that our honorable Board of Council take some means of relieving our citizens of this abomination. Very respectfully, D.

were to give a full account of the cave.

Better Than Oil.

[Scientific Exchange.]

A mixture of glycerine and spirit is recommended instead of oil, for use on skin eruptions. For example, a sore tooth with a relatively large surface, the mixture should be three parts glycerine to one of spirit, the proportion of glycerine being made larger for finer tools.

A Manufacturing Pox.

[Merriweather Journal.]

Maxfield Bean was in a manufacturing town last week, when a very fashionably dressed young man passed along. He was told that it was a clerk in one of the cotton mills, and that he was a man of means. The girl had spoiled him. "That was my idea of him," said Maxfield Bean.

"If not spoilt, I thought he was a little mill dud."

Replacing Teeth.

[Scientific American.]

A correspondent writes describing a accident by which a ten year old girl had two front upper teeth knocked out. She was taken to a dentist, who repaired the teeth and strapped them in her jaw. For two days the girl could scarcely speak, as solid food was allowed, but the operation was successful, and the teeth are as firmly set as ever. They are a little chipped, but later on, when it is safe to work on them, they can be patched with gold and be about as good as ever.

MIDDLETON'S ADDRESS.

TELLING THE TROOPS THAT THEY MUST DO THIS AND NOT THAT.

Canadian Government Attacked—Driven Out and Vanquished—Charges of Drunkenness, Filthiness, Larceny, Cruelty and Mutiny—Notes.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 23.—Gen. Middleton, in Clark's Crossing the following brigades orders:

"The major general commanding wishes to address a few words to the men previous to advancing. In the first place, he wishes to thank them for their fidelity to all others, down for the cheering with which they have borne really hard work and terrible weather; for the splendid marching they have made under numerous difficulties and for the fidelity with which they have done their duty. Regarding the enemy they are about to meet, nothing but the formation of the country can enable them to face such a force as this, for we are better armed, better provisioned, and should we win, not only shall we have won over us their natural instinct for taking cover, and we must watch them closely. The men must be civil and obedient to the officers and their orders, and the major general commanding has but few words to say. He need hardly say that no cruelty—none of the old Indian no-quarter—can be thought of or tolerated, and the greatest cruelty may be to kill a woman or child when who are unfortunately chance to be in the vicinity shall receive an injury. Officers and men are forbidden to enter houses or farms that may be passed, or take anything from them."

A telegram from Swift current states that the Midland battalion has reached the South Saskatchewan Crossing. The right wing of the battalion will form an escort for steamers carrying provisions, ammunition and Gatling guns on the dangerous trip down the Saskatchewan to Clark's Crossing.

The Government Attacked.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 23.—In the house of the minister of militia stated that Col. Quay had, in his absence, given orders at Quay's, to obtain a leave of absence for his commanding officer, Gen. Strange, to proceed to Montreal on urgent personal business and would return west immediately.

Mr. Blaikie, the government agent, who was in the city, brought down the correspondence in connection with the half-breed claims, which he said, the government were purposely keeping back so that the country might not see with whom rested the responsibility for the lands and the right to offer in the Northwest. Sir John Macdonald, in reply, charged Mr. Blaikie with inciting the rebels to insurrection by incendiary speeches. It is not known if the papers relating to the half-breed and Indian grievances laid before parliament at once, where they have not of a confidential nature.

According to Lieut. Gov. Dewdney's own statement, he made a report to the government last August, pointing out the uprising which had taken place if the half-breed claims were not adjusted. This report, which the opposition desire to secure, is said to have been marked confidential.

Wholesale Massacre.

BATTLEFIELD, April 23.—Scouts from Fort Pitt report finding it abandoned and badly wrecked. An Indian told them there had been a fight, and two of the police were killed, and that the police and others in the fort had taken to their boats in the hope of reaching Battlefield. The Indians had been fighting, and should have been here long ago. It looks as if the whole party had been captured or killed from the river banks.

The Indians, who are the half-breed police, under Inspector Dickens, who is the third son of Charles Dickens; Factor McLean of the Hudson Bay company, and his family of eight persons, and James Simpson, Stanley Simpson, W. B. Cameron, and Dr. French, are themselves the Rev. C. Quinn and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Mann and three children; Alfred Quinn and several others. The story of the escape is extremely remarkable, as it is not likely such a large party would be driven out of the fort and allowed to escape.

The Indians said that Riel threatened to take Battlefield soon. Troops were promised for relief three weeks ago, but have not yet arrived. The river is high and no boats seem likely to arrive. Col. Morris is putting a trench around the barracks for greater protection. The Indians threaten an attack.

Warther Services.

TOMORROW, April 23.—Sergeant Nelson, of the grenadiers, who has just returned from the Northwest an invalid, charges the officers and men of the Sixty-fifth battalion with drunkenness, filthiness, larceny, cruelty and mutiny.

Winnibago Troubles.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 23.—An address by the Winnibago rights association, John Sutherland, president, H. E. Deney, secretary, and W. C. Brown, treasurer, demands that the history of the Arthur executive order opening the reservation and the order resounding it by President Cleveland; and assuage the act of the latter in strong terms. It calls for a special session of the Legislature at Cannon, Blue, Harold, Mitchell, Plankinton, Highmore, Chamberlain, etc., to organize for an appeal to the president and people against the enforcement of the order. The address asks if the sessions are to be held in the Irishlandish seats of Russia or an Irish tenancy.

The Campbell Bribery Case.

CINCINNATI, April 23.—The Tom Campbell bribery case will come up for second trial in Judge Robertson's court Thursday, before a struck jury. Rufus B. Smith and C. W. Gerard will again prosecute. It has been said that Rufus Smith will not prosecute the case, owing to the fact that he was a judge in the Campbell disbarment proceeding. The judge said: "It makes no difference to me, I could try my case without a farthing." They can make a motion to take the case out of my court, and I will see what I will do with it. If I try the case, and think the verdict is wrong, I will set it aside. I don't care what people say about it."

Don't Stick.

NEW YORK, April 23.—The suit brought by the American art association against the Evening Post for $35,000 damages in consequence of an article printed in the Post claiming the association to be detrimental to the Sieney pictures, has been dismissed at the plaintiff's costs.
